REY'S BEAUTIFUL ROSES FOR THE ROSE GARDEN

The American home is hardly complete without its rose garden; the rose is truly the Queen of Flowers. No other flowering plant or shrub can compare with the rose in its delicate shades of color. Start a rose garden of your own, the pleasant recreation of caring for your plants and watching them grow and develop into wondrously beautiful flowers will many times repay you for the cost. Select half a dozen—a dozen or as many as will be needed to plant a garden. Our list well covers the roses that have been found hardy and adaptable to the southwest.

CULTURE: Roses are best planted in the fall. Where fall planting is done it is well to cover the plants with coarse straw mulch for winter protection. They prefer a deep clay loam, well drained. A light covering of well rotted stable manure in the early spring assures good plant growth and an abundance of blooms.

PRICES: The roses listed herein are good, strong, healthy No. 1 stock, having three to five branches to each plant. Mature, two and three-year-old field-grown plants, 60 cents each; $7.00 per dozen. Varieties marked with asterisk (*) $1.00 each; $10.00 per dozen.

REY'S QUALITY BULBS FOR FALL PLANTING

CULTURE: As a general rule outdoor bulbs are planted from September till in December so they will make a good root growth before the real cold weather sets in. The soil should be well drained. Good results cannot be obtained if water stands on the bulbs.
See chart (below) for planting instructions.

For indoor culture plant in pots or boxes from October until in January. These do not need to be planted so deep as when out doors. One-half inch for small bulbs and one inch for larger ones below the surface is sufficient. After planting the earth should be packed firmly around the bulbs and well watered; place in dark cool cellar and leave there at least eight weeks, or until roots have a good start, when they can be brought to the light, a few at a time, as they are wanted.
